

Why I Give

RHF plays a vital role in sustaining the values and future of our sport.

My decision to support and donate to the Reining Horse Foundation comes from a place of deep gratitude and passion for the reining community. Reining has been a meaningful part of my life — not only as a sport, but as a source of connection, challenge and growth. It's a lifestyle that instills discipline, heart and an unmatched bond between horse and rider.

The Foundation plays a vital role in sustaining the values and future of our sport. Whether it's through youth scholarships, crisis funding for NRHA members in need or preserving the legacy of reining, the Foundation's impact is wide-reaching and personal. I give because I believe in supporting the people behind the sport — those who train, ride, judge, volunteer and work tirelessly behind the scenes. They are the backbone of reining, and RHF provides an essential safety net and support system.

I'm especially moved by the Foundation's commitment to young riders. Investing in the next generation through scholarships and youth leadership programs ensures that the passion and tradition of reining continue to thrive. I've seen firsthand how these opportunities can change lives, build confidence and open doors that otherwise might have remained closed. Helping a young rider chase their dream is one of the most rewarding ways we can give back.

I also support the Foundation because it honors the rich history of reining. As the sport evolves, it's crucial to remember and celebrate where it came from. The Foundation helps preserve our heritage while also promoting innovation and inclusivity for the future.

Youth, non pros, professionals, breeders, owners, businesses, individuals, foundations, fans ... there is a reason and a way for everyone with a connection to reining to give back. And, like the sport, RHF's good work helps around the globe. No matter the amount, I encourage you to give a gift this year. Now is a great time to start.

Ultimately, giving to RHF is about giving back to a community that has given so much to me. It's about ensuring the future of reining is secure, that its people are supported, and that its traditions endure. I'm proud to be a small part of that mission and encourage others to join me in helping sustain the heart of this incredible sport.
